SATURDAY, JULY 30.

The N. Y. Tribune remarks that the withdrawal f the English steamers from the line between Panama and Australia, for lack of freight and passengers, ought to give pause to the Senate Committee which proposes to report a $300,000 subsidy to an American line from San Francisco to the same nonexporting and little importing Colonies. To give $300,000 to such a line will be a palpable swindle an equal amount. Americans owe too much and Australians are too poor to stand such a swindle

We published recently an article, showing the immense trade and travel of the Colonies. From those data it appeared that the passenger and freight money in 1869, between this port and San Francisco amounted to $166,000, and between Australia and San Francisco to $685,700. The passage money paid during the same year to and from the Colonies to all parts of the world to $180,205,571, and the exports to $175,834,-541-nearly one half of that of the whole United States for the same period.

Because the Panama steam line, undertaken by capitalists who knew nothing of the business they had engaged in, and over a route against which commerce and travel protested, proved a failure, affords no just ground for denouncing as "a swindle" the subsidy to assist a steam line established over a natural commercial track. which has and must continue to draw to it a large and remunerative traffic, destined to increase with | Mauna Loa does not compare with that from Haleextraordinary growth every year that it is con- akala.

DEATH'S DOINGS .- The King of Terrors has been quite busy in our midst of late. In a short period of time, one after another of our old residents have been taken away, leaving a blank in the places filled for years by familiar forms and faces. Last Friday morning, Mr. Edward Burgess, a resident here of down with paralysis, under which he gradually sank, and expired on Sunday morning. Mr. Burgess came from New York to California in 1846, in Stevenson's regiment, and on receiving his discharge at the declaration of peace, visited this city. On his return, however, he had a large stock of goods, with which he opened a store. The case was decided against the plaintiff in the Police Court, from which he appealed to the Circuit Judge of Oahu, who reversed the decision of the lower court. The defendant then appealed to the Supreme Court in banco, and last Tuesday and Wednesday were occupied in a pretty thorough examination of the case. Messrs.

Rather expensive, one would think, all about twenty dollars. But it was a test case, as there was quite a number of other Chinese here who had entrusted various sums of money to the defendant to be paid to their friends in China, and were this case decided against him, a host of others would arise.
